MARKET WEATHER MENTALITY FOR CORN AND SOYBEANS: Eastern U.S. Midwest crop areas will likely dry down for a while in the coming week to ten days, but crop conditions will stay fine and late season planting will advance favorably. Tropical Storm Cristobal will bring welcome moisture from Missouri into Wisconsin and some neighboring areas next week to maintain moisture abundance in those areas. Net drying in the southeastern states and Tennessee River Basin will be closely monitored.

China weather is a concern in some of the dry areas in east-central parts of the nation, limited rainfall and very warm to hot temperatures through early next week will raise concern over crop development and the region will need to be closely monitored. Some rain is possible in the driest areas during early through mid-week next week, but it may be a little too light and sporadic for the best relief. Northeastern China will see a better mix of rain and sunshine to support fieldwork and crop development.

India's monsoon is expected to perform well this year, although rainfall will be erratic over the next ten days. Tropical Cyclone Nisarga dissipated over Maharashtra Thursday, but the storm has bolstered soil moisture in the state and neighboring areas of Madhya Pradesh where some early planting may soon evolve.

Oil palm and coconut production in Southeast Asia is advancing favorably with little change likely.

Canola planting is moving along in Australia, but there is need for greater rainfall in many areas. There is plenty of time for the greater rain to fall, however. Canola in Canada's Prairies has been planted in many areas, but rain is needed in parts of the central and east to stimulate germination, emergence and improved establishment. Western parts of the Prairies have been too wet at times and more rain is coming to those areas this weekend and early next week.

Brazil's Safrinha corn crop is finishing favorably after rain fell in late May. Some production cut did occur earlier in the month because of dryness especially in eastern production areas.

Argentina's harvest is moving along well as is that of South Africa.

Most of Eastern Europe's crop weather has improved with recent rainfall, although the precipitation came a little late to seriously turn around winter rapeseed production. Corn, sunseed and soybean planting should be advancing well with favorable emergence, but warming is needed to stimulate better crop development from Eastern Europe into the western CIS. Rain is needed in northwestern Europe and some of that may occur in the coming week to ten days. Net drying is expected in southeastern Ukraine and Russia's Southern Region over the next ten days.

Overall, weather today is likely to have a mixed influence on market mentality.

MARKET WEATHER MENTALITY FOR WHEAT: Dryness remains a worry in parts of the northern U.S. Plains and from there into southeastern Saskatchewan and southwestern Manitoba, although "some" rain is expected by this time next week. The precipitation may be somewhat restricted, though. Western Alberta is still too wet and moving slowly in its spring planting. Eastern Alberta will likely become too wet this weekend into early next week.

U.S. hard red winter wheat production areas will be experience net drying this week, despite a few showers and thunderstorms because of very warm to hot temperatures. However, much of the crop has reproduced and is filling with crops in the south maturing. The limited rainfall and heat will stress a few crops, but Nebraska and northern Kansas crops are most immature while having the best soil moisture. The bottom line to net drying is not expected to be very great on crop conditions or production, although maturation will be rushed.

U.S. soft wheat conditions in the Midwest have improved with this week's decreasing rain frequency and rising temperatures. Dryness in the northwestern states remains a concern and weekend heat did not help the situation.

Northwestern Europe dryness will continue a concern, despite a few showers recently and those still yet to come. Crops elsewhere in Europe and the western CIS will experience a favorable mix of weather, although production will not be restored in areas that had inclement conditions last autumn and earlier this spring to harm production. Net drying is resuming in eastern parts of the Black Sea region, but today's forecast is offering some opportunity for rain in Russia's eastern New Lands during the June 13-19 period.

China's winter wheat crop is rated favorably, although drying now may be stressing a few of the more immature crops. Spring crops are favorably moist and expected to perform well.

Australia's planting of small grains has advanced well. There is still need for greater rain in many of Australia's winter crop areas. Queensland, northern and western New South Wales and parts of South Australia and northern Western Australia crop areas need more rain. South Africa and western Argentina also need more rain.

Overall, weather today will likely contribute a mixed influence on market mentality with a bullish bias.

Corn.

- July corn futures ended higher on Friday and up 5.50 cents for the week. Friday's rally was related to positive US economic data (massive surprise in jobs report indicating a recovery), higher WTI and short covering.
- Favorable US weather continues to cast a long-term bearish undertone on the market as the US carryout could exceed 3.3 billion bushels.
- We see the US 2020-21 US corn carryout above 3.3 billion bushels.
- Goldman Roll started on Friday.

Corn Export Developments

- Syria will retender for 50,000 tons of soymeal and 50,000 tons of corn on June 24 for delivery within four months of contract.

Updated 6/4/20

- July corn is seen in a $3.20 and $3.45 range. December lows could reach $2.90 if US weather cooperates.

Soybean complex

- Soybeans ended near unchanged to higher after rallying this week amid 24-hour sales announcements Tuesday into Friday. State owned Chinese buyers bought small amounts of US soybeans all week after the government told them not to make large (one off) purchases.
- Prices were supported early from improving US economic conditions and support from outside related markets such as crude oil and the devaluation in the US during last half Thursday trading.
- China continued to buy US soybeans on Thursday into Friday. At least three cargoes traded hands.
- It's safe to say the bulls are eyeing US soybean export competitiveness against SA soybeans for OND shipment.
- China soybean imports in May were up 27 percent from a year ago after sourcing 9.4 million tons alone from Brazil, up from 7.4 million in May 2019. The record high for Brazil was 10.08 million tons in July 2017.
- China cash crush margins as of this morning, using our calculation, were 63 cents per bushel (70 previous session) and compares to 67 cents a week ago and 79 cents around this time last year.

Updated 6/4/20

- July soybeans are seen in a $8.35-$8.90 range.
- July soybean meal is seen in a $280 to $310 range.
- July soybean oil range is now seen in a 26.75 to 28.50 range.

Wheat

- Chicago wheat ended lower on Friday on lack of fresh news leading to profit taking.
- US harvest progress will likely remain strong after this weekend into next week. Much of the rain from the tropical storm may stay east of the main areas of TX and OK that are undergoing harvest progress.

- French soft wheat ratings were unchanged at 56 percent but remain very low relative to history.
- Ukraine spring plantings are 98 percent complete on an estimated 15.5 million hectares (does not include land not reported).
- Paris December wheat futures settled 0.75 euros, or 0.4%, lower at 186.75 euros ($210.82) a ton.

Export Developments.

- Jordan seeks 120,000 tons of wheat on June 17 for November-December shipment.
- The Philippines passed on 55,000 tons of feed wheat on June 4 for September shipment.

Rice/Other

- CBOT July rice sharply higher again, making significant gains over the September. We view this trade and the short WTI earlier, as trades of the year for commodities.
- The Philippines seeks 300,000 tons of rice on June 8.

TO CLIENTS/PROSPECTS OF FUTURES INTERNATIONAL, SEE RISK DISCLOSURE BELOW:

THIS COMMUNICATION IS CONVEYED AS A SOLICITATION FOR ENTERING INTO A DERIVATIVES TRANSACTION.

Any trading recommendations and market or other information to Customer by Futures International (FI), although based upon information obtained from sources believed by FI to be reliable may not be accurate and may be changed without notice to customer. FI makes no guarantee as to the accuracy or completeness of any of the information or recommendations furnished to Customer. Customer understands that FI, its managers, employees and/or affiliates may have a position in commodity futures, options or other derivatives which may not be consistent with the recommendations furnished by FI to Customer.

The risk of trading futures and options and other derivatives involves a substantial risk of loss and is not suitable for all persons. In purchasing an option, the risk is limited to the premium paid, and all commissions and fees involved with the trade. When an option is shorted or written, the writer of the option has unlimited risk with respect to the option written. The use of options strategies such as a straddles and strangles involve multiple option positions and may substantially increase the amount of commissions and fees paid to execute the strategy. Option prices do not necessarily move in tandem with cash or futures prices. Each person must consider whether a particular trade, combination of trades or strategy is suitable for that person's financial means and objectives.

This material may include discussions of seasonal patterns, however, futures prices have already factored in the seasonal aspects of supply and demand, and seasonal patterns are no indication of future market trends. Finally, past performance is not indicative of future results.
