Morning.

Higher prices on Wednesday on positioning ahead of the major government reports. The SA weather forecast is largely unchanged. Argentina grain inspections and oilseed workers plan another 24-hout strike starting today over wages. Offshore values are leading soybean oil 10 points higher and meal $2.40 higher. Five major reports are due out Thursday, MPOB, China CASDE, Conab, USDA Export Sales & USDA S&D update. Traders not expecting any major adjustments to global balance sheets. We look for minor revisions to the Brazil and Argentina crops and for USDA to possibly raise the US soybean export forecast. A Bloomberg poll looks for weekly US ethanol production to be down 3,000 at 971,000 barrels (960-994 range) from the previous week and stocks up to 397,000 barrels to 21.637 million.

Weather

In Argentina, concern remains of dryness in the southern part of the nation. Some shower and thunderstorm activity will occur Thursday due to a frontal boundary; however, conditions will then likely be drier-biased in this area for a while. The next opportunity for some meaningful moisture in southern Argentina will then be possible Dec. 16-18; though, this may be erratic. Rain in Argentina will be greater in the north the next two weeks compared to the south.

In Brazil, conditions will still be favorable in much of the nation for crop development. There will be little to no rain in much of Bahia or eastern Piaui through next Tuesday; though, this area is likely to trend at least a little wetter in the week 2 of the outlook. Northwestern Mato Grosso do Sul may be drier than preferred in the next two weeks; though, there will be some occasional erratic shower and thunderstorm activity in this area.

Corn.

- CBOT March corn is higher on technical buying. Look for positioning ahead of the government reports due out Thursday. Traders not expecting any major adjustments to global balance sheets. We look for minor revisions to the Brazil and Argentina crops and for USDA to possibly raise the US soybean export forecast.
- DTN noted state-owned Chinese COFCO is working on a phytosanitary agreement to import Brazilian corn. Some think this could take months to put in place.
- We picked up China bought US ethanol cargoes on Tuesday (3 for Jan/Feb).
- Today is day 3 of the Goldman Roll.

• A Bloomberg poll looks for weekly US ethanol production to be down 3,000 at 971,000 barrels (960-994 range) from the previous week and stocks up to 397,000 barrels to 21.637 million.

Corn Export Developments

• Taiwan's MFG bought around 65,000 tons of US corn for Feb/Mar shipment at $1.9639/bu over the May futures.
