

Good morning. Happy May Day

USD was 1 point lower, WTI crude down $1.76 and US equities mostly lower. . Many countries are on holiday for May Day and therefore news is light. CBOT ags are mostly lower from an improving US weather outlook bias Midwest with restricted showers until at least the end of the week. However, the Great Plains will see limited rainfall and the Canadian Prairies will be dry and warmer than normal this week. Some traders are looking for an improvement in US winter wheat crop conditions when updated this afternoon after rain developed last week across key production areas. Later today NASS will update US March crush. Estimates for crush and (revised) corn use below.

WORLD WEATHER HIGHLIGHTS FOR MAY 1, 2023

- Unusually great amounts of rain fell in India during the weekend stalling fieldwork and raising concern for unharvested winter crops
 - Unsettled weather will continue through Wednesday causing more delay and more concern over crop conditions
- Portions of China's eastern North China Plain and the northeastern provinces received rain during the weekend improving spring planting moisture and improving a few winter crops in Hebei; Shandong missed the rain once again and is too dry in some areas
- A few more showers and thunderstorms are expected in West Texas during the next ten days, although big soakings of rain may elude the region for a while longer
- U.S. Midwest will experience a good mix of rain and sunshine, although there will be some disruption to farming activity
- U.S. Plains weather will be favorably mixed for spring planting and emergence and some winter crops will benefit from the moisture as well
- U.S. Midwest weather will be cool, showery and blustery today and for a little while Tuesday resulting in poor field working conditions, but mid- to late-week weather will improve before rain resumes late this week and into the weekend

- Canada's Prairies will be unusually warm and drier than usual this workweek allowing spring fieldwork to advance in many areas; some rain will impact southeastern Manitoba during the weekend and Alberta could be impacted with some rain by early next week
- Brazil's key Safrinha corn and cotton producing areas will experience limited rainfall for the next ten days and seasonable temperatures
- Eastern Argentina will trend wetter later this week and the moisture will spread to the south this weekend and early next week
- Heavy rain is possible in northeastern Argentina, Paraguay and Rio Grande do Sul Friday into Monday of next week
- Frost and freezes occurred late last week in northeastern Europe causing damage to various fruit bearing bushes and trees, but not to wheat or rapeseed; additional cold weather is expected over coming week to ten days with some of that getting into northwestern Russia as well
- Spain, Portugal and North Africa will continue warm and mostly dry for another ten days
- Dry and warm weather will continue this week in Kazakhstan and southern parts of Russia's eastern New Lands; dryness continues into next week with more seasonable temperatures likely
- Southeast Asia will continue receive periodic rain supporting most crops and fieldwork
- Australia rainfall will be confined to the far south this week; Western Australia may get some needed rain next week

Corn

- CBOT Corn is lower in large part to lower US energy markets and some weakness in equities.
- News is lacking with many countries on holiday.
- Looking at US weather, it will improve over the next week. Restrictions in rain will facilitate planting progress. Same is seen for Canada.

Export developments.

- None reported

Soybeans

- Soybeans are marginally higher from light technical buying. Meal is slightly higher and soybean oil under pressure from a lower trade in WTI crude oil.
- We heard there was some South American soybean selling but basis overall has been rising from lack of producer selling last week.
- Deliveries are circulating for soybean oil while no deliveries were reported again for soybeans and soybean meal.
- Malaysian palm oil exports fell 18 percent for the month of April from March to 1.176 million tons, per ITS.
- Malaysia and several other markets are closed for holiday.

Export Developments

- USDA seeks 860 tons of vegetable oil in 4 liter cans for use in export programs. Shipment was scheduled for Jun 1-30 (June 16 to July 15 for plants located at ports). All offers are due by early May 2.

Wheat

- Chicago wheat futures are lower after good rain fell across about 75 percent of the US winter wheat are last week. Ample global supplies were noted by the news wires.
- Later today the trade may learn the volume results from the Algerian wheat import tender.
- September Paris wheat futures were not quoted dur to the holiday.
- Egypt said they enough wheat to last 2.6 months. This is a little tighter than usual, in our opinion.

Export Developments.

- Jordan seeks 120,000 tons of optional origin wheat on May 2.
- Jordan seeks 120,000 tons of feed barley May 3 for October through FH November shipment.

TO CLIENTS/PROSPECTS OF FUTURES INTERNATIONAL, SEE RISK DISCLOSURE BELOW:

THIS COMMUNICATION IS CONVEYED AS A SOLICITATION FOR ENTERING INTO A DERIVATIVES TRANSACTION.

Any trading recommendations and market or other information to Customer by Futures International (FI), although based upon information obtained from sources believed by FI to be reliable may not be accurate and may be changed without notice to customer. FI makes no guarantee as to the accuracy or completeness of any of the information or recommendations furnished to Customer. Customer understands that FI, its managers, employees and/or affiliates may have a position in commodity futures, options or other derivatives which may not be consistent with the recommendations furnished by FI to Customer.

The risk of trading futures and options and other derivatives involves a substantial risk of loss and is not suitable for all persons. In purchasing an option, the risk is limited to the premium paid, and all commissions and fees involved with the trade. When an option is shorted or written, the writer of the option has unlimited risk with respect to the option written. The use of options strategies such as a straddles and strangles involve multiple option positions and may substantially increase the amount of commissions and fees paid to execute the strategy. Option prices do not necessarily move in tandem with cash or futures prices. Each person must consider whether a particular trade, combination of trades or strategy is suitable for that person's financial means and objectives.

This material may include discussions of seasonal patterns, however, futures prices have already factored in the seasonal aspects of supply and demand, and seasonal patterns are no indication of future market trends. Finally, past performance is not indicative of future results.

This communication may contain links to third party websites which are not under the control of FI and FI is not responsible for their content.
